Memories of "Dartmouth Hurricane" Revived by Its 25th Anniversary

"If there was one dominant emotion among Princetonians as Saturday's incredible storm howled about their ears, it was that rare sense that they were watching history made before their eyes. It took but a moment's thought, apart from the impact of tumbling trees, power failures and heavy damage to property, to realize that nothing like it had happened before, that the conditions would never be duplicated in the average life-time."

-Town Topics, Nov. 30, 1950

In the intervening quarter-century since November 25, 1950, nothing like the storm (known ever since to football fans as "the Dartmouth hurricane") has been visited again upon Princeton and much of the United States east of the Mississippi. In 22 states, 278 people (three of them in a fatal crash on Alexander Street) lost their lives, and property damage was estimated at close to half a billion dollars.

In the brief time-span of a few hours (from shortly before noon until around 7 p.m.), 2.31 inches of rain (nearly the normal amount for the entire month of November) inundated the area. When the temperature dropped 30 degrees during that period, the rain changed to sleet and snow, and all forms of precipitation were driven by the ban- shee which maintained an average pace of 80 miles an hour, with gusts clocked at 108.

In such conditions, Princeton and Dartmouth played a football game in Palmer Stadium, a contest that will forever stand out in the memories of the 5,000 fans -- out of more than 31,000 who had purchased tickets to see if the Tigers could finish 9 and 0 for their first undefeated season since 1935. At the kickoff, an inch of water covered the field from one 20-yard line to the other, the portions nearer the end zones unaccountably absorbing at least the surplus on the surface.

The wind, roaring in directly from the open end of the Stadium, blew so hard that when play began, referee Albie Booth of Yale held the ball in place until the center emerged from the huddle. Punts launched with the wind sailed far over the end zone -- the longest measured 66 yards but could quite conceivably have covered 100 had it been kicked from the other goal-line -- and those attempted into the gale sometimes actually lost yardage when blown backwards. Throughout the game, the team with the hurricane at its back often kicked on first down to avoid fumbling and the team playing into the blast ran on fourth down to avoid having to punt.

Hollie Donan, the 6-5, 230-lb. All-American tackle who contributed much to the Tigers' championship season, recalls the wind rather than the downpour and the casual water on the field as the dominating factor. Inability to pass (eight were thrown all day, three completed) kept the clock running steadily, and mercifully shortened the contest. In all, there were but 102 plays -- in contrast to a norm somewhere between 160 and 180.

"Trying to run on ground that wet required far more energy than usual," Donan recalls. "At the end of the game, I was absolutely exhausted." Severely shaken up on one occasion, he was held out "for observation" during one play, thus breaking a record of never having missed a minute of action during his three-year career because of injury. Fourteen players, eight on offense and six on defense, were used by Charlie Caldwell through the entire game.

Above the noise of the wind, inhabitants of the public address, radio and television booths atop the press box heard occasional high-pitched sounds akin to shrieks: it was the noise generated by tar paper being ripped off the roof in sheets and whirled off into the raging storm. Amazingly, power was never lost, the game was recorded in its entirety on the public address system for those on the scene, and for thousands of others in front of radio or TV sets. A near-casualty was an NBC TV technician, who came close to being blown off the roof when he left his booth to secure some wildly flapping wires.

As the records show, Princeton won, 13-7. Each team scored when it had the

An Historic Step: Merged Health Services; Consolidation of Two Boards Set to Follow

Actual consolidation of Borough and Township into a single Princeton may not be immediate, but merged health services probably will start next month.

In what Township Mayor Jay Bleiman characterized as "an historic step," Township Committee Monday night unanimously agreed to join with the Borough in a Princeton Regional Health Commission. The Township Board of Health voted 5-2 on November 6 to authorize such a Commission.

In the Borough, the Board of Health was scheduled to take similar action Tuesday night. Informally, the Borough board has already unanimously approved the Commission.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said Tuesday that Council might pass the required resolution at a special public meeting next Monday. If not then, he said, the action will be taken at Council's regular December meeting.

Action by the four bodies — the two boards of health and the two governing bodies — is required under state law before the Commission can be formed.

Autonomy Retained. Under the new set-up, the two boards of health remain, their members still appointed by the governing bodies. Each board will choose two of its members to serve on the Commission for one year. Two alternates will also be chosen. It is expected that the Borough Board of Health will select its representatives Tuesday. Chairmen of the boards are automatically selected, Louise Bessire, for the Borough; Margaret Sprout, for the Township.

"We expect this first Commission to get organized in December," Mrs. Sprout said this week. "It will only last a month, until the new municipal governing bodies take over in January. Then a new Commission will be chosen."

On the day-to-day side, the new arrangement means that David Blake, Borough health officer, will become health officer for the entire community. The Township's health officer, Herman Lavan, will retire December 31.

The two inspectors, Borough and Township, will remain and so will the two secretaries. Mr. Lavan had been working three-fifths time for the Township at $12,500 a year. In June, however, a change in the pension laws required the Township to hire him full-time, at $20,000.

With the savings from his salary, the new Commission will probably hire a $10,000-a-year, full-time sanitary engineer, full-time.

Benefits Cited. "We hope for a better use of staff time," said Township Committee member Margaret Broadwater Monday night, "plus more health screenings for residents of the community, better housing inspections, a lower unit cost — we hope! — for running the department. We are working on devices to evaluate departmental efficiency."

The Commission has a two-year life, to start. At the end of that time, the two boards of health can vote to wipe out the Commission and cancel the whole plan. The boards themselves will far from figure heads. In addition to appointing Commissioners, they will be available to offer advice to the Commission on the budget and on any other matters. And they do have the life-or-death power over the new arrangement.

The Commission will be financed on the standard rateables basis, with the Borough paying one-third of the cost and the Township two-thirds, based on equalized assessed valuation in the two communities.

So far, nobody has decided where the health office will be, or which municipality will be the financial administrator.

Merger in this fashion means that the Township now qualifies for as much — or possibly more — state aid as the Borough. At the moment, however, any state aid is a moot question, because all such aid is in limbo.

Joining the two health boards has been a project under detailed scrutiny for the past three years. However, Mrs. Sprout recalls a survey of local health services — including a study of possible consolidation of the two boards — in which she participated in 1947 and 1948, almost 30 years ago.

Friction within Democratic Party Is a Hurdle In Barbara Sigmund's Bid for Freeholder Seat

The road from Borough Hall to Trenton may not be a smooth one for Borough Council member Barbara Sigmund.

Mrs. Sigmund, just re-elected to a second term on Borough Council, and high scorer on the Borough Democratic ticket, wants to be appointed to the slot on the Mercer County Board of Freeholders left vacant by the election of Freeholder Arthur Sypek to the new post of County Executive.

Three Borough Democrats announced this week the formation of "an ad hoc committee" to work for Mrs. Sigmund's appointment. A special endorsement meeting of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization has been set for next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in Borough Hall.

But many Borough Democrats are not happy with Mrs. Sigmund's part in the recent campaign. They are not happy about talking about it, either. So next Tuesday's meeting is sure to be lively and full of smoke, if not fire.

The three Democrats endorsing Mrs. Sigmund are her fellow Council member Robert Powell, who goes off Council at the end of the year; Mary Perone, former Democratic Chairwoman in Princeton, and Frederick Bohen, who ran last year for Congress on the Democratic ticket. The only other Council member is Murray Medvin. Conspicuous by their absence are Democratic Council members Nelson van den Blink, Martin P. Lombardo and Joseph P. Moore. Mrs. Sigmund's running-mate, Gus Escher, isn't on the list, either, nor is defeated mayoralty candidate Jan Schneider, who is also Borough County Committeewoman.

"There were some problems during the campaign which haven't yet been resolved," Mrs. van den Blink said this week, "but the Democratic party in the Borough is not a divided party."

Mrs. van den Blink, who was campaign manager, declined to say specifically what the problems were. But Mrs. Sigmund says that one of them was a Sigmund flver which did not mention either Mr. Escher or Mrs. Schneider.

It was put out by former students of Mrs. Sigmund's at Stuart Country Day School.

"For family and political reasons of their own, they couldn't push the entire Democratic ticket," she explains. "I honestly thought it was a harmless outlet for their enthusiasm. I checked procedures with the campaign treasurer and forgot all about it. I'm sorry if it grieved anyone."

LOVE THAT MOUSE...

You know, running a busy little shop like your local Country Mouse isn't easy. Some time we're scampering around here till the wee hours of the morning, and then up again early so we can be all ready to open by 9:30 the next day.

Now that Christmas is only 4 weeks away, everyone is beginning to get nervous... not so here at the Country Mouse. This year Mrs. Mouse went with me to the city and helped me pick lots of nice cards, gift wrap, advent calendars and many charming stocking stuffers. Now we can just spend our time unpacking the new things as they arrive and trying to get everything just right for a happy holiday season.

It's nice being the big cheese here at the store, but I love it when Mrs. Mouse squeaks up.

wind at its back during the first half, the visitors taking a 7-0 lead just before the first quarter ended and Princeton retaliating with touchdowns by All-American Dick Kazmaier and fullback Jack Davison.

Dartmouth's placement for the extra point was good, but only because it was deflected upward off the hands of an on-rushing Princeton lineman and barely fell over the bar. The Tigers could not set the ball upright for a kick after their first TD and trailed, 7-6.

Kazmaier got them the final point when he ran the conversion across from seven yards away after an offside penalty. Under 1950 rules, the p.a.t. began from the two-yard line and was worth a single point, whether kicked, run or passed for successfully.

By the time the teams returned for the second half, conditions had become so much of a quagmire that further scoring proved impossible. The Tigers did penetrate to the losers' five in the third period before being set back for clipping and then losing possession.

Dartmouth had the wind in the final period, but had lost its fine quarterback, Johnny Clayton, on an injury and could not muster a drive under the conditions beyond the Princeton 36. Ball control, the hallmark of single wing football, repeatedly came to the Tigers' aid in running out the clock.

At one point, a major gamble paid off when Kazmaier went into punt formation near midfield on a fourth-and-four situation. The snap, however, went to Davison and when the chain gang had splashed almost the width of the field, the Tigers had kept possession by inches.

Postponement Considered. The game was played under such conditions because Dartmouth, with a 4-4 record, viewed them as an equalizer, and said that a return trip to Princeton for a postponement the following Saturday was not feasible. Princeton, wishing to have an opportunity to win every game on its schedule, then preferred to play rather than to cancel.

Elsewhere in the storm-battered nation, only two major games were not held. In Pittsburgh, where the cold wave had struck earlier and brought nearly a foot of snow, Pitt and Penn State delayed until Monday. In New Brunswick, Rutgers called off its game with Colgate because its stadium across the Raritan was accessible from its campus only by rowboat.

Car Crash Kills Three. At game's end, three out-of-town fans repaired to the bar room at the Princeton Inn to ride out the worst of the storm. Three hours later, they headed down Alexander Street, in pitch blackness with street lights

NO. 42 SETS SAIL: Dick Kazmaier, the tailback whose Princeton career saw the Tigers achieve back-to-back unbeaten seasons, running for the conversion point in second quarter of "Dartmouth hurricane" game. After Princeton offside penalty, he took snap back of 10-yard line but reached the end zone untouched.

out, and rammed the concrete abutment where the road turned right before reaching the bridge over Stony Brook. All died instantly.

The storm's fury left Princetonians physically unharmed. At Princeton Hospital, eight persons from nearby communities were the only ones to receive emergency treatment.

The havoc was unprecedented. Every main thoroughfare leading out of town save Washington Road was blocked by fallen trees and wires. The power failure had left many homes without adequate water supply because pumps were inoperable, and virtually every part of the community campus, a portion of the stone building without electricity. As the roof blown off the building temperature dipped to the freezing mark, furnaces shut off; Princeton Hospital was without heat from late morning until around 8 that night.

Unable to operate gasoline pumps, service stations closed in mid-afternoon. Had a fire started, the lack of electricity would have made a general alarm impossible. In the days before dial telephones, operators were accepting only emergency calls, and the University's own system was almost completely out of commission.

Two Cars Crushed. Fatalities which might have occurred did not because no one happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time. In front of Palmer Physics Laboratory on the Nassau

Club, a tree mashed an unoccupied car (which had been driven only 300 miles.)

The tin roof of a coal silo at J. W. Miller's Sons on Alexander Street blew off, as did a portion of the roof of the Nassau Street Elementary School. Scores of houses lost part of their roofs, early television-set owners never did locate antennas that had been wafted away, and a commuter who had found it necessary to go to New York that day spent eight hours on the train he had elected to take home.

Inevitably, the hurricane was not without a lighter touch or two. A few minutes before the football game began in Palmer Stadium four hardy souls scaled the heights to row 46, under the circumstances not taking the trouble to find their exact ticket locations.

To their astonishment and amusement— with some 40,000 places unoccupied— a man and his son approached them in obvious irritation. Thrusting his ticket stubs under their noses, he growled, "Pardon me, but you are sitting in our seats!"

Township Vacancy Ruled Open to Both Parties-- Seat Could Remain Unfilled until November '76

It is the next Township District 12 to affect the Committee and not this one that should appoint someone to fill the seat to be vacated New Year's Day by Abbot Low Moffat. The person appointed to fill it can be either a Democrat, like Mr. Moffat, or a Republican.

That was the advice given to Committee this week by its attorney, Gordon Griffin.

Meanwhile, Republican Tod Peyton has announced that he will appeal the decision last week in which Superior Court Judge George Y. Schoch set aside the contest for Mr. Moffat's seat, declared he could not certify either Mr. Moffat or Mr. Peyton as the winner, and thereby put the selection of a Committee member into the hands of Committee itself.

In the election, Mr. Peyton beat out Mr. Moffat by 92 votes. However, a faulty voting machine in District 12 recorded only one vote for Mr. Moffat. His running-mate, defeated candidate Barbara Lependorf, received 100 votes in that district and Democrats assume that Mr. Moffat must have received a comparable number; in fact, they have affidavits from five voters swearing they voted for him.

The district as a whole produced 143 voters. If the machine had been operating properly, Democrats say, Mr. Moffat might well have received the 93 or more votes needed to beat Mr. Peyton and win reelection. The day after election, Democrats got a court order impounding the flawed machine and that same day, Judge Schoch made his ruling.

Total Field Inadequate. A vacancy occurring during a Republicans will tell the Appellate Division of Superior Court that Mr. Moffat didn't receive enough votes in member from the same party

No Mandate Exists. A term in office -- if a Committee member moves away, for example -- must be filled by a member from the same party the law says, because the voters have already indicated that's the party they want in that seat.

But Mr. Griffin points out that in the Township's case, there will be no incumbent whose seat is being vacated: Mr. Moffat's term will already have expired. Therefore, there isn't any mandate from the voters dictating which party should fill that seat.

"The responsibility is on Township Committee," Mr. Griffin says. In his view, if there is indeed a 2-2 deadlock and Committee can't agree on an appointee, the seat will remain vacant until the November elections next year.

The Republicans' attorney, Edward Meredith, says he expects a decision before the end of the year. This is one of a class of cases, he says, that is advanced ahead of others because of its importance.

If the three-judge Appellate Court is unanimous in upholding Judge Schoch, the Republicans can ask the State Supreme Court if it will hear the case. If the three Appellate judges hand down a 2-1 decision upholding Judge Schoch, the Republicans have the right to a Supreme Court decision.

Commenting on Mr. Griffin's advice that the 1976 Committee is the one to make the appointment and not the current Committee, Mr. Moffat said, "I agree completely. I've thought that all along."

The 1976 Committee, without Mr. Moffat, will have Democrats Jay Bleiman and Margaret Broadwater, Republican Elizabeth Hutter and newly-elected Republican Josie Hall -- a 2-2 deadlock. If the law were clear that a member of Mr. Moffat's party had to be named, the appointee would be a Democrat -- maybe Mr. Moffat -- and Committee would have a 3-2 Democratic majority.

DISCUSSIONS PLANNED

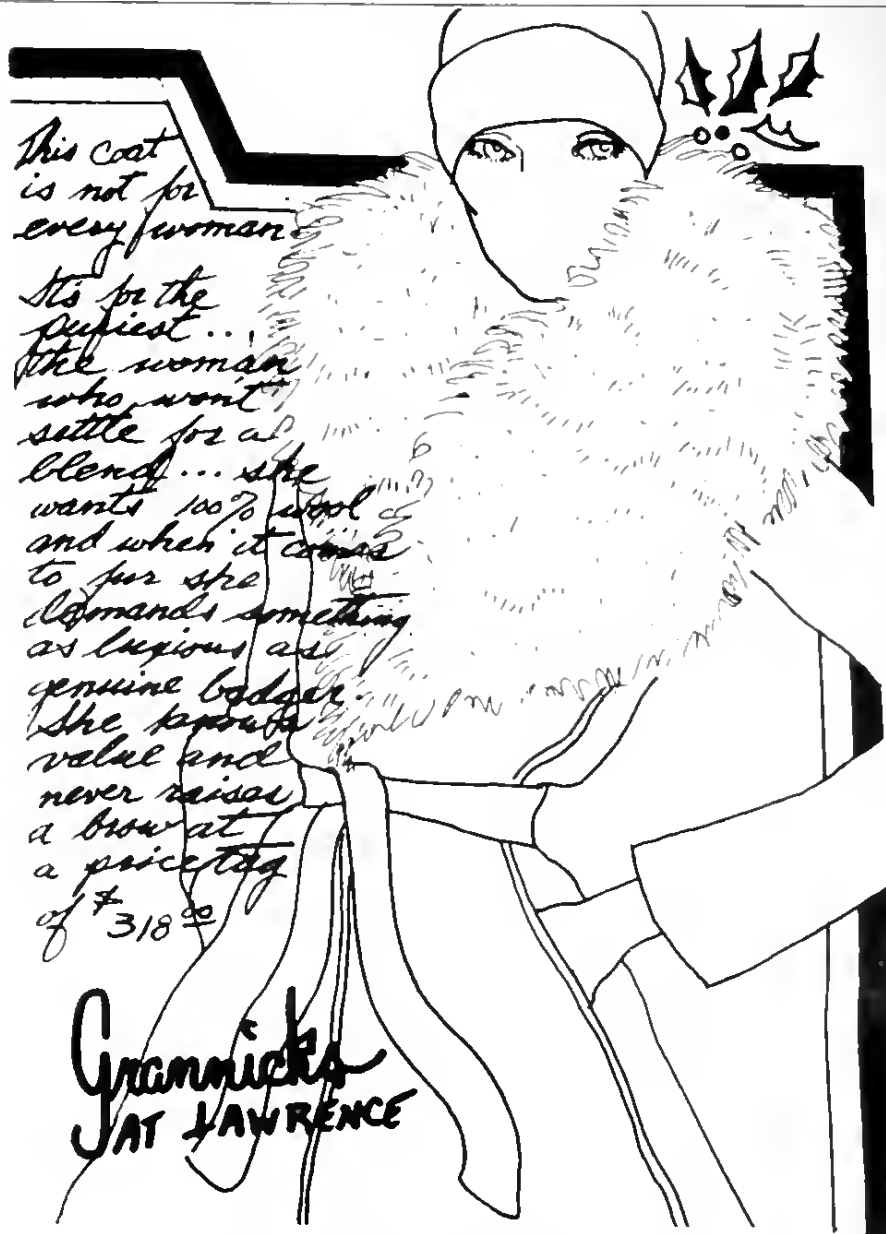

By University and Saudi Arabia. Princeton University will send an administrative delegation to Saudi Arabia in the latter part of November as the next step in discussions of mutual interests in the life sciences, President William G. Bowen has announced.

The delegation will consist of two members of the Board of Trustees, R. Manning Brown, Jr., chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board, and John N. Irwin, II, former deputy secretary of state and ambassador to France, a senior officer of the university, William H. Weathersby, vice-president for public affairs, a former U.S. State Department representative in the Middle East, a dean with a principal academic interest in the life sciences, Edward C. Cox, associate professor of biology and associate dean of the college, and David A. Probst, associate director and international representative of the Development Office.

The discussions began on September 29 when President Bowen and Prince Sa'ud Bin Faisal, minister of foreign affairs, met in New York and agreed to explore support for Princeton and cooperation in education and research in the life sciences.

The purposes of the visit are to discuss ways that the in-

The composition of the delegation and the purposes of the visit have been discussed with both the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees and the Executive Committee of the Council of the Princeton University Community. COWS AND BIKES

A Varied Agenda. Cows in the backyard, bike routes across a battlefield and Christmas-shopping by bus occupied Township Committee at various times Monday night.

Committee agreed -- but not wholly because two members abstained -- to ask the state for $6,500 more in Green Acres money for a bike path in Battlefield Park, as a joint State-Township project. New Jersey has run out of Battlefield Park money, and has asked the Township to apply for more Green Acres money (which is state money, too, but held by a different hand) to build the path. Without the path, there would be a 1,125-foot gap in the Township's bike-route system, said committee member Abbot Law Moffat. If the extra Green Acres money is forthcoming, the state's other hand will provide half the cost of the $13,000 path.

Abstainers were Elizabeth Hutter and Margaret Broadwater. Mrs. Hutter was uneasy about a reported $36,000 cost to correct a recent drainage problem on Mercer Road, and wondered why the Township had to pay for a path through a state park.

In parallel action, Committee agreed, 5-0 this time, to apply for Federal money to build a bike path along the Kingston Road from Riverside to River, Rosedale Road and Stockton. Last year's similar request was turned down.

A path along a Federally-funded state road would receive 70 percent Federal money, 30 percent state money so the Township would be home free. For a county road, the Township would have to pay 30 percent. Mrs. Hutter, worried about the $24,000 cost of a special bike-pedestrian bridge over Harry's Brook on the Kingston Road, nevertheless voted with the rest to make the application.

"Cattle," Herbert Shapiro told Committee, "are virtually in our back-yard." The Shapiros live near the Herrontown Road farm of Mr. and Mrs. Jac Weller. Mr. Shapiro described brush fences which had become "rat tenements," and he said there were barbed-wire fences virtually on his property-line. Township Zoning laws prohibit pigs, ducks and chickens but allow cattle and goats, Mr. Shapiro was told. Committee promised to study his problem.

The Friday, Monday and Tuesday before Christmas, the Loop Bus will run three additional hours -- from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., courtesy of Princeton's merchants. In addition, merchants will contribute the money to Borough and Township to help subsidize free rides between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. those shopping days.

Committee introduced an amendment to the site plan ordinance allowing appeal directly to the courts from a Planning Board site plan decision, by-passing Committee, or allowing a possible re-hearing if the Planning Board agrees. Sponsor William Sutphin said he was concerned about the amount of time Committee spent hearing appeals. The most recent was the Yedlin appeal. Mrs. Hutter voted no. She cited the expense of court procedures, said the measure would make citizens feel less protected against some project they felt was damaging, and suggested a re-hearing before Planning might be futile. Public hearing will be scheduled after conference with the Planning Board.

Committee introduced an ordinance repealing the requirement that a developer must appear before site plan in advance of appearance before the Zoning Board. The requirement has been declared illegal by the courts.

The Planning Board has told Committee it wants to keep the requirement that developers who want a use variance must go to site plan and Planning Board before to the Zoning Board. Committee would like to change this requirement, and decided Monday to confer with Planning and Zoning Boards to iron out.

LOTS OF SMOKE...

But Little Fire. Princeton's volunteer firemen were kept busy over the weekend fighting more smoke than fire.

A general alarm was sounded Monday morning at 10:25 for a small fire in a shed owned by Kingston Plumbing Company in the rear of 154 Nassau behind P.J.s Pancake House. Police said that an oil burner had malfunctioned, causing excessive smoke.

Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm and Sgt. Thomas Michaud responded to the initial alarm.

Another general alarm was sounded early Sunday morning after police received reports of smoke coming from the home of Mrs. Ressie Branch, 191 Birch Avenue.

The smoke was caused by large amounts of leaves and debris being burned in the furnace. There was no fire, police said. Firemen used fans to help clear the smoke away.

Saturday evening at 7:26, a piece of apparatus was sent to a home at 121 Mount Lucas Road, but again there was no fire. Police said that the odor of smoke and fire had probably been caused by the furnace going on.

While the Princeton-Yale game was in progress, firemen responded to a general alarm for a blaze in the home of Richard Strelitz, 415-B Devereux Avenue.

The fire was confined to an attic but police report that the attic and three rooms sustained heavy smoke damage. At 9:37 the same evening, police received a call that the fire, apparently smoldering, had re-ignited. A patrol car and piece of fire equipment responded and extinguished the flare-up. Cause of the fire is still under investigation.

WANT TO RUN?

For School Board. If you want the Township seat available this year on the Princeton Regional School Board or one of the two Borough seats, the deadline for filing your application is Friday, December 26 at 4 p.m. in the Valley Road Building office of William Evans.

Gail Firestone, Township; and Judith Getis and Joan Doig of the Borough, hold the seats that will expire this year.

At next Tuesday's school board meeting (8 p.m. Community Park School), the board will announce that it plans a public discussion of the hows and whys of negotiation. The date hasn't been set, although it may be as late as January, and the meeting will not touch on negotiations now in progress, said board president Winthrop Pike.

Mr. Pike said this week that he might have an announcement Tuesday about progress in talks regarding board relations with Superintendent Philip E. McPherson.

BUDGETS:

School, Municipal. If you have dollar signs in your eyes, you'll want to check in at three pre-budget meetings scheduled for next week.

The school board will again work out its budget in public session, this time on Monday evening at 8:15 p.m. in the Valley Road building. So far, the meetings have been attended almost entirely by staff. Few townspeople have attended.

The same night in Township Hall -- 8 p.m. -- departmental budgets for various Township departments will be

Rock Slide Fatal to Lawrenceville Girl, 15; PDS Companion, Pennington Man Unhurt

A mountain climbing expedition led to tragedy Saturday afternoon when a rock slide claimed the life of a 15-year old student at Stuart Country Day School.

Mary Caddell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Caddell, 41 Brearley Avenue, Lawrenceville, was killed when she and a Princeton Day School student were mountain-climbing near Bangor, Pa., with William Townsend of Pennington. Sheila Mehta, daughter of Mrs. Dennis Wrong, 144 Drakes Corner Road, was unhurt in the mishap.

Mr. Townsend had led the way up the slope while the three were climbing in the Delaware Water Gap State Park area. Suddenly he was confronted by a small rock slide. Grabbing the largest rock, he strained to hold it as long discussed. Next Tuesday, November 25, at 8 in Borough Hall, residents of the community are invited to exchange ideas about budgets for joint Borough-Township agencies. Copies of these budgets are available in Township Hall.

NO ZONING MEETINGS

Borough or Township. November Zoning Board meetings in both Borough and Township have been cancelled or postponed.

The Township Board, scheduled to meet next Wednesday, has cancelled that meeting for lack of a quorum and re-scheduled it for Tuesday, December 9. As always, the meeting will be held in Township Hall at 8 p.m.

The Borough meeting, usually the fourth Thursday, has been cancelled because there are no cases. The December meeting will be held Thursday, December 18, at 8:15 p.m. in Borough Hall.

PASSENGER INJURED

In Turning Mishap. James Todd, 80, 31 Leigh Avenue, suffered minor injuries Saturday afternoon when the car in which he was riding struck a telephone pole on a Witherspoon and Leigh Avenue corner. He complained of head pains.

The driver, Fanchion Gordon, 70, 29 Leigh Avenue, told police that she lost control as she was turning right onto Leigh. She was treated at nearby Princeton Medical as he could between his body and the slope, and called a warning to the girls below.

Sheila was able to shift in time, but Mary, who was further down the hill and out of sight, was struck on the head by the rock. After being hit, she fell about 30 feet further down the hill, where she was found by Mr. Townsend and Sheila. While he administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, Sheila ran for help.

The area rescue squad and the Pennsylvania State Police responded very quickly. However, they pronounced Mary dead upon their arrival.

She was the second of six children and was a tenth grade student at Stuart School. The funeral was held Tuesday at St. Anne's Church, Lawrenceville.

Center for minor injuries. There were no charges by Ptl. John Clausen.

One driver was injured Saturday afternoon in a collision on North Harrison and a Princeton Shopping Center exit.

Diane W. Armington, 46, of Trenton, received lacerations of the head when her car struck another in the middle of the roadway after it had exited from the Shopping Center. She was charged with careless driving.

The other driver, Daniel Spair, 18, 36 E. Broad Street, Hopewell, was ticketed for improperly exiting from a private drive. His car had to be towed away.

Three Are Injured. Three persons were injured following an accident Friday morning on Washington Road at Faculty. All the victims refused medical attention at the scene and there were no police charges.

According to police, Valerie J. Brown, 25, of Spotswood, was attempting to stop on Washington Road. Her car skidded into ten feet of guard rail fence, struck a traffic light standard and the front of a car stopped at the Faculty Road light operated by Nora S. Wilnot, 25 Howe Circle. A passenger, Madeline Petrone, 17, received minor injuries. Ms. Brown sustained facial cuts.

THREE ARE ASSAULTED

In Separate Incidents. Borough police report the assault of two men and a woman last week.

The woman, a Princeton resident, was assaulted and mugged last Wednesday evening in the YMCA parking lot. She had just parked her car in the rain, police said, and was walking toward the Y building when a young man approached her with an opened umbrella.

He thrust the umbrella against her, forcing her against her car. He demanded she turn over her pocketbook, police continued, and then without provocation struck her in the face. He fled with her purse which contained $60 in cash, a watch and other personal property with a combined value of $120.

The victim was taken to Princeton Medical Center by Township police, where she received seven sutures to close a laceration of her left eye. Ptl. James Agins and Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm of the Borough remained at the scene. Det. Charles Harris is continuing the investigation.

The suspect was described as approximately 18, 5-5, medium dark complexion, with short hair. He was clean shaven.

Struck with Car Jack. Tuesday morning around 12:30, a man was assaulted in a Spruce Street apartment and taken to the Medical Center where seven sutures were needed to close a scalp wound and three for a laceration of his arm. Police said he had been assaulted with a car jack.

Police arrested and charged Joseph Dunphy, 32, of Hatboro, Pa. with assault and battery and breaking and entering. Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and Ptl. John Holcombe, who investigated the report of a disturbance, reported that there was evidence that Dunphy had broken a door in to get inside the apartment. Inside, according to police, were a couple, one of whom knew him.

Dunphy was arraigned before Judge William Bunting and held in $2500 bail.

Security Guard Struck. Earlier in the week, a 47-year old security guard at the Princeton Medical Center was struck while making his rounds.

Police said the guard saw two men acting suspiciously at 6:30 in the evening in a parking lot and as he went to ask why they were on the grounds, one entered the rear entrance of the hospital. When the guard approached him, the suspect struck him in the face with his fist.

The guard was treated for a slight abrasion. The suspect was described as 20, 5-9, dark complexion with a moustache, wearing blue trousers and a red and dark blue striped shirt

$160 IS MISSING
From Cafeteria Receipts. Township police are investigating the apparent theft of $160 last week from a cash bag at Princeton Day School.

According to Mrs. Terri Wackley of the school's food services department, the bag was in a cabinet in a storage room adjacent to the kitchen. It was given to another employee to take to the bank for deposit but a check of the deposit slip revealed that $160 was missing.

Edward McHugh of Montclair lost his 35mm camera with a telephoto lens valued at $350 when someone removed it from his car parked on a field off Broadmead between 1:15 and 4:30 Saturday afternoon. Police said that the car had been locked and entry was gained by an undetermined method.

A radio cassette and four speakers valued at $200 plus 15 tapes -- five of which were recovered -- were stolen from the parked car of William D. Parkhurst, 152 Galbreath Drive.

Mr. Parkhurst told police that he was awakened by a car motor early Sunday morning and in checking his garage, discovered his was missing. It was found a short distance away from his house on

Ride Bus, Win Turkey
The more you ride the Loop Bus between now and Monday, the more chances you have to win a 10-12 pound turkey, donated by Davidson's Market.

Write your name, address and telephone number on the receipt you get when you board the bus. Give the receipt to the driver. Every time you ride, you can fill out another receipt. The drawing will be held next Monday at 10 a.m. in Township Hall. You don't have to be there to win.

Ridership on the Loop topped 1,500 for the first time last week, reports coordinator Sydney Taggart. The unofficial total: 1,517, and that, Mrs. Taggart adds cheerfully, was a week which included two days of school vacation. Presumably, if school had been in session, the count would have been even higher.

Galbreath Drive. Ptl. Harry Morton assisted.

Borough police report the theft Sunday night of a $50 tape player from a nurse's car parked in the Princeton Medical Center's employees' lot off Franklin Avenue.

Two batteries were stolen in the Borough -- one early in the week from the same Franklin Avenue lot, taken from a nurse's car and another from a car parked in the Engineering Quad lot off Olden Street, owned by a Princeton Junction resident. Police said both were valued at $40.

Three handbags were stolen Thursday from a cloakroom in the Terrace Club, 62 Washington Road. Police said that a suspect in his 20s had been seen in the club prior to the thefts.

Det. Ronald Holliday followed up a description of the suspect and a charge of breaking and entering with larceny has been drawn up. Police declined to reveal the suspect's name because the warrant has not been served.

Taken from one bag was a wallet containing $2, a $20 camera from another and a wallet containing $15 from a third. All were owned by women students, police said.

Charges of Pilferage from Its Food Services Department To Be Investigated by University in Wake of News Story

Independent, outside consultants will be called in by Princeton University to review the management of the University's Food Services and Facilities Services departments following last week's stories in the campus newspaper, The Daily Princetonian, charging employees in those departments with pilferage.

In a copyrighted story in Wednesday's issue, the Daily Princetonian said that for the past ten years, the associate general manager for facilities, Thomas P. Root, in charge of food services, has "repeatedly taken food, furniture and appliances belonging to the University." The paper quotes the accusations of unnamed employees, past and present, and says that all of them have the rank of "manager" or above.

Mr. Root is alleged to have taken a pool table, a color TV, a refrigerator and a rug, and is said to have used trading stamps from University purchases to acquire a canoe, an electric typewriter and a chain saw.

Lasagna by the Pan. In another story, the same issue of the Daily Princetonian says the pans of lasagna are regularly set aside for Mr. Root, for Malcolm J. Graham, who is the Food Services Director; Bernard L. Gavin, Facilities Services Director; Gilbert Van Houten Jr., Assistant Director of Food Services and John D. Cashill, manager of Wilcox Hall kitchen.

According to the newspaper, these staff members say the cook who makes the lasagna is "very proud," and might consider it as a personal affront if staff members did not take the lasagna. On its front page, the paper has two pictures showing lasagna pans bearing the names of Mr. Root, Mr. Cashill, Mr. Graham and Mr. Van Houten.

"It's a bad judgment. It's been a bad decision to take the lasagna on my part," Mr. Graham is quoted as saying. At both the student and professional level of employees, the Daily Princetonian reports, numerous employees say that pilfering goes on throughout Food Services, with people taking "a cookie or an apple." Students told the newspaper that student workers may work only part of a shift and bill the University for the whole shift. The story includes accusations of poor management in inefficiency in the department.

In the story about Mr. Root, the Daily Princetonian says he "admitted that most of the items he is accused by employees of stealing are in his University-owned home."

"I've always used my house as the focal point for entertaining staff, for entertaining students," he is quoted as saying. "I probably have taken some things or I have taken some things for someone else, or for some charity service."

"For General Use." The pool table, according to the newspaper's account of Mr. Root's remarks, came from the basement of the Graduate School. "It has been used by everybody, not for personal gain," Mr. Root told the paper. "I think it's being put to good use."

He described the TV set as "an old clunker...something they didn't want to pay to replace. I guess it worked for a couple of months. I gave it to a service club, an Elks club."

The Daily Princetonian says it was told that the set had been repaired for Mr. Root at the University Store at University expense, but Mr. Root denied this charge, and said he had his own U-Store account.

Asked by TOWN TOPICS to comment on The Daily associate controller, to join him in investigating allegations of personal misconduct.

"We will also inquire whether the alleged actions conflict with existing University policies and the extent to which University policies may require amplification or modification," Mr. Firstenberg told President Bowen.

Friends, Clergy Rally to Root's Support

After learning about the charges against Thomas Root described in The Daily Princetonian, friends of Mr. Root, including members of the pastoral staff at St. Paul's Church and St. Joseph's College in Kingston, joined in a statement of support. It appears on page 12 of this issue.

Mr. Root's friends refer to him as "a fellow human being possessing professional, moral and personal qualities of the highest degree." Expressing the hope that they can "document his personal honesty and integrity" over the 16 years he has lived in the community, the group describes his work in St. Paul's, at the Medical Center of Princeton, in the Kingston Fire Department and various little league and high school student groups.

They point out the training program in food services he established at the Johnston Training Center and the Bordentown Reformatory, and his work in preparing mentally retarded young people for jobs. At the request of local officials, his friends continue, Mr. Root has served as a probation officer.

The Root home, the ad says, is in constant use by Princeton University students awaiting job placement or further graduate courses, and Mr. Root himself is "constantly sought" as a character reference.

Among the signatures on the testimonial are those of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John Endebrock, pastor of St. Paul's; the Rev. Eugene Ericson, associate pastor of St. Paul's; the Rev. Michael Kennedy, president of St. Joseph's College in Kingston; the Rev. William Sweeney, C.M., treasurer of the College and the Rev. Charles McNamara, C.M. principal of the St. Joseph's College high school.

Princetonian stories, Mr. Root declined. It is understood that he has retained a lawyer.

President William G. Bowen has asked the University's Financial Vice-President, Paul B. Firstenberg, to conduct an investigation. Mr. Firstenberg has told President Bowen that he proposes to employ independent, outside consultants to review "the overall efficiency of the food service organization, the quality of its management and its internal control procedures."

Mr. Firstenberg said he will also ask William Reed, who is in charge of personnel at the University, and Lenise Smith,

Skate Board Riders in Your Family? Police Have Some Safety Suggestions

In case you haven't noticed, skate boards are back and while kids are happy, the police aren't. "The alarming number of skate boards being used by youngsters in traffic is of utmost concern to this department," Township Chief Frederick Porter read this week from a prepared statement. "Our concern should also be the concern of parents."

All parents, Chief Porter continued, who purchase skate boards for their children should have an understanding with them that they are not to be used on the travel portions of the highway or during darkness. Chief Porter said that while there have been no skate board accidents reported yet in the Township, it was only a matter of time.

"It's getting out of line. The kids shoot out in front of cars and they have no respect for these big metal monsters. They act as if all cars had rubber bumpers." He urged that skate board safety be equally regarded as bicycle safety practices.

He was echoed by Borough Chief Michael Carnevale, who reported a "marked increase" in the number of skate board participants in public streets. Recently, he said, an adult skate board rider fell and broke his ankle on Madison Street.

Chief Carnevale warned that skate boards are prohibited in streets. Those who use them there are in violation of the motor vehicle statutes, a violation that applies to both juveniles and adults. Violators are subject to a summons.

Skate boards are permissible on sidewalks, he said, as long as the rider does not interfere with or obstruct walkers.

RCA GIVES TO RFB

Supports Recording For The Blind. Each year funds donated to the RCA Combined Charities Fund by the RCA Defense Electronics Products Astro-Electronics Division are divided among charities considered deserving by the Combined Charities Committee. A check for $250 has been presented to Hunter Bliss, Chairman of the Princeton Unit of Recording for the Blind, Inc., by Edwin A. Goldberg, Chairman of the Combined Charities Committee. Mr. Ross expressed appreciation for this financial support and also for the many volunteer hours contributed by employees of the RCA Corporation.

The Princeton Unit of RFB at 100 Stockton Street is one of 29 studios nationally. Each unit is staffed by volunteer readers, monitors and office workers, with a skeletal staff of paid supervisors. There are at present about 300 volunteers, but there is a constant need for more.

The blind population increases yearly in proportion to the population growth. RFB serves 95 percent of blind college students and the predominant part of the nation's blind high school population. The latter go on to college at a higher ratio than that of sighted students.

Recording for the Blind is the only nationwide organization that provides a service of this kind

LAW SCHOOL DEFERRED

Cost Is Factor. The Executive Committee of the Princeton University Board of Trustees has reviewed a preliminary report on possibilities for legal education at Princeton and has concluded that the serious financial constraints facing the University would make it inappropriate to pursue further what responsibilities Princeton might undertake in this field.

The report presents some of the educational issues that would have to be addressed and emphasizes the need to examine carefully the potential advantages and disadvantages of alternative approaches to legal education if the subject were to be pursued. It was felt, however, that the magnitude of the financial commitment that might be required, as estimated in the report, weighs against further exploration of these issues at the present time.

In arriving at this conclusion, the Trustees endorsed the recommendation of President Bowen, who added: "The first priority for Princeton has to be sustaining the quality of teaching and research in the disciplines central to the mission of the University as now defined. To accomplish this objective under the difficult financial conditions we face will require all of the energy and all of the resources at our disposal."

The preliminary report on legal education which served as the basis for the discussion by the Trustees was prepared by D. Robert Owen '52, a member of the New York firm

Committee In Support of Root

P. O. Box 2

Kingston, N.J. 08528

A Committee has been formed to present Tom Root to Princeton University and the larger Community as a fellow human being possessing professional, moral and personal qualities of the highest degree. We hope to document his personal honesty and integrity as seen by his activities in conducting his business and community affairs over the past 16 years in Princeton.

Most of the members of this Committee have been associated with Tom Root for a good many years. To list all of his management or professional achievements while at the University would require more space than is available.

Tom Root has established at Princeton University a unique training program that has been instrumental in the instruction and general development of management as well as operational personnel. His recognition of training needs and career development and his appointment of a Director of Training clearly demonstrate his concern for his fellow employees.

In terms of labor management, professional job efficiency has at least doubled over the past few years. The number of student employees (on student aid) has increased dramatically over that same period of time.

Tom Root is a tough, fair administrator who has a high standard which challenges the capabilities of those under his employ. He is an organizer and a doer. He meets situations as they arise and has faced a variety of problems in a forthright manner. Tom Root's management style can best be summed up as the "team approach." He always addresses himself to his staff and insists on a consensus prior to policy formulation. He requires input from his staff and gives them the type of leadership without prejudice that clearly demonstrates those qualities which exemplify a responsive and enlightened manager. No other University official comes to mind as much as Tom Root as one who opens his home and its environs to other employees as well as students.

In support of his personal integrity, we wish to refer to his service to:

I. St. Paul's Church

II. Voluntary Organizations

III. Living example to individual people in need

Tom is a religious and devout person who is active at St. Paul's Church. He commands the respect of the clergy and his fellow parishioners who are proud to have him as a member. He was individually responsible for initiating the Church of Patterson, Belknap, and Webb, Dennis F. Thompson, Professor of Politics, and Donald E. Stokes '51, Dean of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs and chairman of the group. The report concluded that the basic educational issues cannot be assessed adequately while the University as a whole is in such straitened financial circumstances. The Faculty Advisory Committee on Education and Welfare Policy, with whom the President discussed the matter prior to the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, also joined the President in recommending to the Trustees that this is not an appropriate time to consider further the suitability of a more active role for Princeton in legal education.

SUPPLEMENT FILED
To Affirmative Action Report, Princeton University has submitted to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare a supplement to its Affirmative Action Report of last spring.

The supplement provides additional statistics requested in August by HEW, when its Office of Civil Rights issued "revised guidelines" for minority hiring by organizations receiving federal grants.

In a covering letter to HEW's Region II Office in New York, Provost Albert Rees said the university, through the supplement, "is bringing its Affirmative Action Program into conformity with these revised guidelines, which were not available at the time of the original submission" of May 13.

The 116-page supplement provides information requested in HEW's revised guidelines. It includes statistics on employee salaries and on the number of employees by specific ethnic categories. The supplement offers a complete work force analysis by department of nonacademic employees, and it discusses in detail the appointment of women to the tenured faculty from outside the university.

Copies are available in Princeton's Firestone Library.

BOROUGH MAN CHARGED

With Shoplifting. George W. Kornegay, 22, 12 Quarry Street, has been charged by Township police with shoplifting. Kornegay allegedly hid a $5 bottle of men's cologne under his jacket Thursday afternoon in Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center. He was apprehended as he walked toward the door by Joyce Camisa, a store security officer and turned over to Ptl. Peter Savalli. Kornegay was issued a summons and released.

Two Township youths were also charged with shoplifting last week, one an 11-year old girl who allegedly took a pair of $7.50 earrings at Bamberger's. The other, a 13-year old boy allegedly shoplifted a mechanical drawing set valued at $4 from Center Stationers.

Both were released in the custody of their parents, pending further juvenile action.

In the Borough, two brown leather coats, valued at $195 and $165 were shoplifted last week from Saturn, 4 Chambers Street.

Police report that two men entered the store and while one engaged the clerk in conversation, the other grabbed the two coats and walked out. The latter was described as about 25, wearing grey trousers and a grey print shirt.

ASSOCIATION FORMED
Of Borough Retail Stores.
The downtown retail stores in Princeton have formed the Princeton Borough Merchants Association as a division of the Chamber of Commerce. Details of the Association's plans were announced by Mrs. Audrey Short, Chamber president.

The Association has planned evening shopping hours for the business district for Christmas shopping on December 12, 19, 22 and 23, when stores will remain open until 8:30. The group will also offer coupons in its advertising for free parking to customers during the entire Christmas shopping period in the Park and Shop lots on Hulfish Street.

A competition will be held among all merchants for the most beautiful Christmas window. Samuel Kind of La Vake's remarked that some Princetonians go to Bethlehem, Pa. and to New York and Pennsylvania to see Christmas window displays and they should be able to enjoy them here in town.

Those participating in the formation of the new Princeton Borough Merchants Association include Hult's Shoes, Landau, H.P. Clayton, Stone's Linen Shop, Bellows, La Vake Jewelers, Polly's Fine Candy, the English Shop and Urken Supply.

Borough merchants who wish to participate in any of these programs should contact the Chamber of Commerce office, 921-7676, by Friday.

The Chamber of Commerce will sponsor an Art Festival on Sunday, December 7, in the Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn. Local art galleries are participating in the sale and auction, which will include the works of a number of area artists.

Proceeds will benefit the Chamber's civic projects.

ENERGY EXHIBIT HERE

Petroleum Institute Van. Residents of the Princeton area will have a chance to ask questions about the oil industry and express their opinions about offshore oil and gas operations when the traveling exhibit, "New Frontiers for Energy," makes a three-day stop in Princeton, Monday through Wednesday. The American Petroleum Institute's touring display, housed in a red-white-and-blue vehicle, will be open to the public, free of charge. It will be located on Nassau Street, or in Palmer Square just off Nassau St.

"New Frontiers for Energy" relates the growth of America to the availability of abundant energy resources. It also describes ways to reduce energy consumption, as well as methods of developing new sources for the future. RAILROAD BUFF: Jay Pastore, age 3, of Stony Brook Lane, gazes in wonder as three trains simultaneously pass over the bridges of the Pacific Southern's famous HO layout in Rocky Hill. The Club's yearly exhibition will be given the first two weekends in December.

State Voters Prefer "Independent" Label To Aligning Themselves with Either Party

As a result of declining confidence in both major parties, there are now as many independents in New Jersey as there are Democrats and Republicans combined.

According to the latest New Jersey Poll, conducted by the Eagleton Institute of Rutgers University, 49 percent of those questioned before this month's elections considered themselves to be independents. Democrats numbered 35 percent and only 14 percent declared themselves to be Republicans.

The Poll reveals that the number of independents in the state has risen steadily during the last two years. In a survey taken in January, 1973 -- after Richard Nixon's landslide victory but before the Watergate affair became a major political issue -- 38 percent of New Jerseyans said they were independents. At that time, 34 percent said they were Democrats and 23 percent were Republicans. Since then, the proportion of independents has steadily increased.

	Democrat	Independent	Republican	Don't Know
Jan 1973	34%	38%	23%	5%
Oct 1973	33%	41%	20%	6%
Oct 1974	35%	45%	15%	5%
Oct 1975	35%	49%	14%	2%

The latest New Jersey Poll shows that public confidence in both parties has declined since 1973. When asked this October how much confidence they have in each of the two major parties in New Jersey, 29 percent said they had "not very much confidence" in the Democrats and an even larger 38 percent had "not very much confidence" in the Republicans. In March, 1973, again before Watergate, 23 percent expressed a lack of confidence in the Democrats and 27 percent in the Republicans.

This erosion of public confidence in the two parties, Poll officials noted, has hurt the Republicans more than the Democrats. Since January 1973, the percent of Republicans has declined while the percent of Democrats has remained the same. The net result of this shift is that in New Jersey, Democrats now outnumber Republicans by a 5 to 2 margin as compared to only 3 to 2 in 1973.

Even though independents do not consider themselves to be either Republicans or Democrats, many do say they "lean" more toward one party or the other. Of the 49 percent of independents in the most recent poll, 25 percent said they "lean" toward the Democrats and 12 percent "lean" toward the Republicans, while the remaining 12 percent still express no preference.

Poll officials said that the trend toward more independents is likely to continue. They base this on the fact that among those under thirty, 63 percent are independents as compared to only 38 percent among the over fifty group.

The New Jersey Poll is conducted regularly throughout the year by the Eagleton Institute of Politics. The latest Poll was conducted between October 27 and November 1, when a scientifically selected sample of 1005 adults 18 years and older were interviewed by telephone.

benefit of charity. This year's show will feature a rarely-seen Russian documentary on the Trans-Siberian Railway, together with films from other foreign governments, before each model railroad demonstration.

The exhibition itself annually draws well over 3,000 visitors from all over the United States as well as several foreign countries. During the 50-minute performance over 40 different passenger and freight trains, some over 100 cars long, traverse the complicated and scenic 40 x 60 foot HO layout.

This year, the exhibition will be given on two successive weekends, Saturday and Sunday, December 6 and 7, and December 13 and 14. The performances will be given every hour on the hour beginning at 9 on Saturdays and 11 on Sundays. The last show on both days is 5 p.m.

The shows on both days require advance reservation and are limited to 100 persons per show. Open admission begins with the p.m. shows.

Admission is $2.50 for the reserved shows, $1.50 for the non-reserved shows and $1 for the 5 p.m. shows. All proceeds will be donated to the Princeton Medical Center and the Rocky Hill Fire and Rescue Squads.

Tickets are available at hobby stores, the Princeton Medical Center, or at the door. Telephone 921-9276 or (201) 536-3402 for reservations and information.

Free parking, and a free shuttle bus to the club are available at the Gamma-Tech Building, located near the corner of the Route 206 and Route 518 intersection in Rocky Hill. Refreshments will also be available.

class has written a letter stating that she hopes "this understandable enthusiasm on the part of young people for their former teacher will not be interpreted as anything else."

Another Sigmund flyer, distributed on campus, was put together without her knowledge, she said, adding that she has never seen the leaflet.

Some Democrats have also said Mrs. Sigmund campaigned more for Sigmund than for the ticket, but she says she walked part of every Borough district, "pushing the entire ticket. I walked with other candidates whenever there was an opportunity." She added that it was a policy decision that candidates should walk the town separately, to cover more ground.

Mrs. Schneier, reportedly one of the strongest anti-Sigmund Democrats, is vacationing in Puerto Rico and due to return Monday. Mrs. Sigmund said she had received a note from Mrs. Schneier saying she would like to meet with Mrs. Sigmund for a talk.

IT'S FAIR TIME

At Trinity Church. Bid on a seven-course dinner prepared according to French cuisine, pick up a hand-made toy, a needlepoint kit or stationery decorated with a drawing of Trinity Church -- all at the Christmas Fair, Trinity Church Parish House this Saturday. Hours are 10 to 5, and there will be a Children's Midway with games for children all day long.

The seven-course dinner, in the French manner, will include appropriate wines, a centerpiece and an unidentified waitress. It will be prepared for eight people.

Auction buffs may decide to bid on an antique English mahogany secretary. Other items have been assembled as well.

The pen and ink drawing of Trinity has been executed by Lee Hale, a student at Princeton Day School, and applied to note-paper. Christmas shoppers may also take home knitted caps, sweaters and mittens, Christmas-tree skirts, place-mats, mother-daughter aprons, stitched shoulder bags, decorated waste-baskets and dried flower arrangements.

of Mrs. Sigmund for Freeholder, Mrs. van den Blink said this week that she wasn't yet prepared to commit herself, and would prefer to wait until the Borough County Committee has had a chance to meet. Mrs. Schneier, as chairman, would be the one to call such a meeting. So far, it has not been called. Mrs. Sigmund knows her views and has talked about them with her, Mrs. van den Blink said.

"It is my hope that Nelson and Jan would join in any endorsement of me," Mrs. Sigmund said.

Others on the ad hoc committee are Township Mayor Jay Bleiman, Township Committee members Margaret Broadwater and William Sutphin, Louise Bessire, Joan Hill, John McGoldrick, Edward Sweeney, Raymond Male and Alice Male.

A brick and dark wood two-story with extensive paneling throughout, the house combines a bit of the garrison Colonial look with touches of the contemporary and the feel of a hunting lodge. The unique layout includes spacious living room with fieldstone fireplace and big dining extension, den, good kitchen, handsome stepdown family room with fireplace, area with hookups for a small kitchen, and bedroom above. 2 more extra-large bedrooms; 2 1/2 baths, and screened porch. Out-buildings include small barn, 3 car shed, dog house (and run), while the secluded but not remote grounds are enhanced by a fine swimming pool, which is enhanced in turn by plantings of English boxwood and no less than 70 rose bushes! $137,000

DOLL-HOUSE - a real American house of some age. Four large rooms and gabled roof. Obviously made years ago by a loving grandfather. What our "learned friend" would term "a good honest piece of Americana" - folk art. If not today, it will be tomorrow. An early wax doll in a shadow box, quite beautiful and perfectly preserved, 1850 or older, as newspapers in which it was wrapped were so dated. Several interesting little pieces of Staffordshire figurines. The early print, engraved by Cawkins, and painted in 1806 by Johnathan Fisher. We have a large copy, beautifully framed many years ago. This print was reprinted in 1945 but quickly sold out and will not be printed again. It is somewhat smaller than the original oil painting which still hangs in the Firestone Library. The print is one of five hundred numbered copies.

ALL NEW HENDERSON LISTINGS...

MAGNIFICENT!

We searched Webster's and Roget's and couldn't come up with a better word: Magnificent! That's it! MAGNIFICENT! Sums up everything about our newest listing.

It is a Georgian colonial with huge white columns created seventy-five years ago entirely out of stone. It has a spectacular three-story high foyer and reception room with palatial living room, dining room, sunroom and family room, twelve fireplaces, six full baths, two powder rooms, completely remodeled kitchen with every conceivable extra

It's called ROSEDALE HOUSE, and sits back from the road on nearly four acres of wooded land. Call us for all the wonderful details. MAGNIFICENT is the only word! Price on request.

THE ADDRESS IS POOR FARM ROAD, IN ONE OF THE HOPEWELL VALLEY'S RICHEST AREAS! Rich ... in woods, in hills, in peace, in natural surroundings! Built just a few years ago by a man who personally cut the site himself out of dense forest, so that now the landscaping is breath-taking, to say the least! Stone retaining walls, brook, trees, circular drive and much more surround this lovely home nestled on just over two acres. Every creature comfort available, with lots of living space for a growing family ... four bedrooms with room for more, two and a half baths, fully carpeted throughout! A gracious living room/fireplace, dining room with screen porch adjoining the deck, eat-in kitchen, family room with barn-siding semi-walls, brick colonial fireplace and oodles more! Absolutely perfect condition with lovely tones and colonial feeling. Central air conditioning, too!

$119,000

DIVINE DESIGN AND DECOR A fireplace with handcarved mantle highlights the ample living room with windows at front and back; adjacent to the inviting dining room a lovely paneled library has bookshelves, stereo wiring. A family kitchen of Quaker Maid design with functional shelves, lazy susans and all the other worksavers is off the porch, utility room and not too far from the two-car garage for grocery toting. There's a master suite with full bath; a second large bedroom has its own full bath, and then there are two other comfortable bedrooms and a full bath. The basement features a workshop, paneled playroom, wine cellar, storage closet AND SAUNA WITH SHOWER! COME SEE FOR YOURSELF!

NEAT, TIDY NEW ENGLAND STYLE LINES ON THIS WEST WINDSOR COLONIAL. Walk to the train, walk to shopping, minutes from schools and "in home" business possibilities. A very interesting choice. Offered at $66,500

AN EXTRAORDINARY SITUATION ON PROVINCE LINE ROAD, AND AREA OF EXQUISITE SCENERY AND QUIETLY ELEGANT ESTATES built 20 years before its time ... exceptional construction, durable and divine wood beams and panelling throughout ... a tree flow of rooms on both levels, two fantastic brick fireplaces, full windows and doors and a redwood deck off the upper entertainment area. Evergreens, dogwoods, and natural plantings are seen from every comfortable inside area. Resting on 8 secluded acres.

$175,000

ROLLING HILL ROAD at the BEDENS BROOK CLUB ... just a chip shot away from the 17th fairway ... a spectacular contemporary by William Thompson, AIA, recently featured in a national magazine, for its extraordinary use of beams, windows and space. Vaulted ceiling in the living room over the fireplace and full wall of windows to bring the outside in! Heavenly plan for a small family with master wing off by itself! Every imaginable modern convenience is just a short step from the foyer with balcony. Please call for an appointment to see this masterful design.

Just $149,500

IT'S FINALLY FINISHED AND GREAT... This is a house that has grown like Topsy! It started very small with two bedrooms. The addition of a super master suite with elaborate bath/dressing room area has made it something "special." Then the kitchen took in a couple of rooms and is really marvelous. This made it imperative to add a large living room with fireplace. So as not to be confusing, we end up with four bedrooms, and three baths. We do recommend your inspection of this delightful house on Cherry Hill Road. It has a charming flagstone terrace, too. The lot is surrounded by woods and is very private, and less than a mile from the Community Park courts!

Princetonian (a PDS Alumnus) Playing Opposite Katharine Hepburn in Hit Play Due in New York

"Gee! I'm doing a scene with Hepburn! I kept saying to myself, standing there like some wooden Indian!"

It's more than "a scene" with Hepburn. Christopher Reeve, 23, graduate of the old Nassau Street School and Princeton Day School, son of Mrs. Tristram B. Johnson of 34 Cleveland Lane, is playing the part of Katharine Hepburn's grandson in Enid Bagnold's new play, "A Matter of Gravity."

The play, which opened October 27 in Philadelphia, has moved on to Washington for a one-month run. From there, it will travel to New Haven, Boston and Toronto, opening in New York at the Broadhurst on February 4.

Long and lithe -- six feet, four -- Chris Reeve has been endowed by some uncanny genetic transfer with those famous Hepburn cheekbones and with the same quivering intensity of feeling that the actress herself projects.

"She is such a consummate actress -- and so complex -- absolutely magical and 'just plain folks' at the same time, a total delight to work with, very accessible, but she hates it when people behave stupidly...."

He pauses for breath and grins at his headlong speech.

"I'm one of the luckiest young actors in New York -- this is an experience that just couldn't be bought."

On TV, Too. Chris is probably best known as Ben Harper on the daytime soap opera, "Love of Life," although most of his work has been in the theatre. He made his debut on the Nassau Street School stage at the age of 6 playing the Prince in a first-grade production of "Cinderella." At Princeton Country Day, before that school merged with Miss Fine's to become PDS, he played a Scottish housemaid in Agatha Christie's "Witness for the Prosecution." His Scottish accent is still the talk of the Highlands.

Herbert McAneny, who directed Chris in many PCD-PDS productions recalls that in seventh grade, the young actor "knew how to project, and how to put drama into a scene."

In 10th grade, he was mature enough -- and tall

FROM PRINCETON TO HEPBURN: With some interesting stops in between and some exciting ones ahead... that's the story of Chris Reeve, young Princeton-raised actor now playing on stage with Katharine Hepburn.

enough! -- to play Mr. Antrobus in "Skin of Our Teeth," in 11th grade, good enough for the lead in the old version of "Picnic."

But it is in Lillian Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine" that Mr. McAneny remembers Chris most vividly.

"He was amazing," Mr. McAneny says, "he played the German refugee, and in the scene with three of his 'children,' he was moving -- most moving."

With the help of PDS students, Mr. McAneny chose "Watch on the Rhine" with Chris in mind. Auditions were open, but "I knew he was definitely the best."

For Herb McAneny, the most affecting Reeve performance was that of the lead in "Berkeley Square," which the young actor did at the Manhattan Theatre Club just before "A Matter of Gravity." Mr. McAneny himself had played the part on a 1935 production by Princeton Community Players.

"I think," he predicted of his former student, "that we'll be hearing from him."

Chris became permanently afflicted with the stage bug at the age of 9 when he sang in a Gilbert and Sullivan chorus at McCarter. From then on, he hung around McCarter after school, pulling curtains, carrying props, even handling a spear and speaking a line or two in his last PDS years.

He spent six summer weeks in a theatre program at the Lawrenceville School and the next summer he was accepted into the apprentice program at Williamstown. The summer after that, he was hired to play Beliaev in "A Month in the Country" at the Loeb Drama Center at Harvard, and his career has been in the professional theatre ever since. News Of The THEATRES

"1776 IN 1976"
By P.J. & B. With fife, drum, and plain old theatrical pizzazz, the P.J. & B. players will open the Bicentennial year with -- what else! -- a production of the musical, "1776." Performance dates are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 29, 30 and 31. The place, of course, is McCarter Theatre.

P.J. & B., for those who haven't been in town since the Battle of Princeton, stands for Princeton Junction and Back. It refers to the fact that many actors in these musicals are commuters on the Princeton Junction and Back ("dinky") shuttle.

Milton Lyon will direct "1776." It will be his 17th P.J. & B. show. The musical, by Peter Stone and Sherman Edwards, is laid in Philadelphia during the days preceding the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Characters include Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Hancock and John Adams.

HERE'S "ALICE"
In Disney Version. The 1951 Walt Disney animated version of "Alice in Wonderland" will have its first Princeton showing in more than 20 years when it is screened this Saturday at McCarter in the "Specially for Kids" series.

It will be shown twice on Saturday -- at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. -- and twice next Tuesday -- at 7 and 9 p.m. On Tuesday, it will be shown with "Milestones for Mickey," a retrospective look at M. Mouse, with excerpts from the first Mickey Mouse cartoon ("Steamboat Willie" in 1928) and the "Sorcerer's Apprentice" sequence from "Fantasia."

"Alice in Wonderland" was not a success in its first release. In recent years, however, it has become a campus favorite, and it was re-released by the Disney Studios last year to much wider acceptance than it originally received.

PREMIERE AT McCARTER
Of Cunningham Work. An untitled new work by Merce Cunningham will receive its world premiere at McCarter when Merce Cunningham and Dance Company come to Princeton January 13 and 15. Music for the new work is by Maryanne Amacher. Mark Lancaster has done the set.

In addition, the company will present the 1975 work, "Rebus" and "Sounddance" from 1974. This will be the first time these works have been given to east coast audiences. They received their first performances last year during the company's national tour. Musical scores are by David Behrman and David Tudor, and the sets are by Lancaster.

Other Cunningham choreography to be presented at McCarter will be "Signals" (1970), "Solo" (1973) and "TV Rerun" (1972).

A SHAKESPEARE FIRST?
Well --- Almost. Never before, according to researchers at Theatre Intime, has the Princeton area been privileged to see "All's Well That Ends Well." But all will be well, because Intime has decided to end this distressing state by mounting a production of Shakespeare's comedy for the weekends just before the Christmas holidays.

"All's Well" will open Thursday, December 4, and will play that weekend and the next at Murray Theatre on campus. Mary Ann Jensen is directing.

and Gloria Keats, corresponding secretary.

The first vice-president of the Society is L. Wendell Estey and the treasurer is James E. Ward.

New trustees are Margaret Burt, Catherine Makowicz and Ralph Schoenstein. The following trustees were re-elected for two-year terms: Mr. Estey, George Ford, Elinor C. Lamont, Nicholas S. Lamont, Jean B. Pariso, Mr. Lucas, Mr. Ward and Mrs. Newman. Others serving on the board are Carl B. Good, Ray J. Howe, Ruth A. Pettit, Lavinia Rosenthal, Gloria N. Woodside, Mrs. Kane and Mrs. Keats.

Mr. Lucas has appointed Mr. Ward as chairman of the finance committee, Mr. Howe as chairman of the grants committee, Mrs. Keats as head of the committee on education and scholarship and Mrs. Newman as chairman of fund-raising.

At the meeting, Mr. Lucas reported that the 1974-75 fund raising appeal netted almost $10,000 toward reduction of last year's deficit. The Society, a non-profit organization, is facing a projected budget deficit for the second year in a row. Officers attribute the deficit largely to scholarship aid for qualified students, and to the increasing cost of maintaining The Princeton Ballet Company (formerly the Princeton Regional Ballet Company).

The Society has received two grants: an award of $2,340 from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, and a grant of $1,000 from the Mobil Foundation.

PRINCE

Nashville, Music City, USA, becomes a richly textured metaphor for America in the 1970s in Robert Altman's masterly and massive canvas of five days in the lives of 24 characters in Nashville, Tenn. Excellent characterizations and a highly-charged surface humor are interwoven with the almost continuous music. Altogether, a riveting look at the darker side of the American Dream.

With the Nashville music scene as their prime rallying point, the two dozen characters come to represent a cross section of America, ranging from performers and the casual hangers-on to suave politicians marketing a populist presidential candidate who wants "New Roots for the Nation" but whose agents secure celebrity endorsements by promising things like governorships.

Among them are: Ronee Blakley (making an auspicious debut) as a Country & Western queen; Karen Black, waiting confidently on the sideline, ready to snatch up Blakley's crown when her audience turns against her; Henry Gibson, a top country singer--and a legion of fringe characters. Among the latter are Barbara Harris, a renegade housewife who will do virtually anything for a chance to sing; Gwen Welles, a pathetically untalented waitress, goaded into stripping after being laughed off the stage for her voice; and Shelley Duvall, a spaced-out groupie who likes to go to bed with stars.

Lilly Tomlin is superb as a stifled wife of a hack lawyer who channels her self-expression into singing with a Black gospel group. Geraldine Chaplin is an obnoxious British reporter who finds angry social poetry in everything from scrap heaps to school buses.

News of the Theatres
And more characters. By the time the film reaches its climax there is little left to know about them or Altman's appraisal of a national sensibility utterly inured to violent pain. Critics have been overly generous in their praise for Nashville; it deserves most of the plaudits.

"TEN LITTLE INDIANS"
At PDS. Agatha Christie's thriller, "Ten Little Indians" will be given this Friday and Saturday, November 26, in the Herbert McAneny Theatre, Princeton Day School. Performance time is 8:30 p.m. each evening.
In the Christie play, ten seemingly unrelated people are brought together for a holiday weekend on Indian Island, off the coast of Maine. Why are they there? Who has brought them there? None of them knows. It all seems quite innocuous until people begin to die, after the pattern outlined in the children's rhyme.
Actors are Phil Gloucevitch, Clarissa Bullitt, Beth Selby, Elizabeth Carothers, Steven Cragg, Lise Thompson, Jennifer Chandler, David O'Connor, Betsy Murdoch, Mark Blaxill and Jay Itzkowitz. The director is Jack Osander and the set designer, Mimi Gregory.

Boutique a Success.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
The community served by the Medical Center at Princeton has long supported the movies and the stars who appear in them.

Interviews with the performers alternate with steamy sequences in which the actors demonstrate their specialties. The film aspires to profundity in deference to the mandatory "social redeeming value" but most viewers will prefer to sit back and get turned on.
What elevates it above the run-of-the-mill porno is Claudine Beccarie, one of the performers, a warm pert, funny appealing actress who expresses herself wittily on a wide range of subjects: her bisexuality, her distaste for the vulgarity of Linda Lovelace, her contempt for movie stars. She is fascinating because she is filled with contradictions.
For example, she is willing to do anything in front of a camera but blushes at four-letter words; she will reveal anything about her sex life but balks at revealing her political affiliations.
She is remarkably moving in relating the sordid details of her life—raped by an uncle, locked up in a reform school, tricked into a stint at a bordello, mistreated by her husband—that one feels almost ashamed for responding sexually to a girl of such vulnerability.

ERIC
Rooster Cogburn. John Wayne and Katherine Hepburn are paired for the first time on film but the result is a major disappointment in this slow moving, lackluster sequel to "True Grit." They generate undeniable magnetism but a weak script—tracking down a gang of murderous desperadoes—hampers any fireworks. Both stars are obviously determined to have as much fun with their roles as possible and they do on occasion play off one another with spirited aplomb, but it is fortunate, as one critic remarked, that both have their careers behind them.

Printing of Budget Urged.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
The proposed Princeton Township capital budget for 1976-1981 should be disclosed to every taxpayer. I say this since the grand total for that period is $6,383,550 and since so many projects are "subject to local improvement assessments."
As of this moment, it's a fair assumption that less than one percent of Township residents have seen the proposed budget and program. Naturally everyone is free to drop by Township Hall to review the budget but how many residents have that amount of free time?
For these reasons the Township Committee should arrange to have the budget printed in its entirety in a local newspaper (just as it does ordinances).

Only in that way will individual citizens understand how their lives (and taxes) will be affected by the various recommended projects. It cannot be done by holding one or even several public hearings on the budget.
So what the Township Committee must do is change its established method of telling us how it believes our taxes should be spent—in this case from 1976 through 1981.

Most people can recognize color. There are many who are color-weak, and a few that are totally color-blind -- that is, they see black and white only. The most common color blindness is red-green blindness. To these people the entire color spectrum is seen in yellow and blue tones. This condition is inheritable, and is more common in men than in women, affecting between five to eight per cent of the male population. Color blindness is a factor to consider when choosing an occupation.

ORCHESTRA ON TV

Two Concerts Set. The Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra, a community youth orchestra, will be discussed and shown in rehearsal December 2, at 9:30 p.m. and again December 6, at 5:40, when Ruth Alampi hosts "Jerseyfile," on Channel 52-TV and interviews guest Evelyn Krosnick, manager of the MCSO.

The MCSO, conducted by Dr. Matteo Giammario, will present a concert, Wednesday, December 3, at 8 p.m. and a repeat program on Sunday, December 7, at 3, in the Kirby Arts Center, The Lawrenceville School. The public is invited to attend these free concerts and hear these young musicians of the Delaware Valley perform music of Wagner, Berlioz and Shostakovich.

STUDENTS TO PERFORM

At Woolworth Center Sunday. Jean Beasley, flutist, will give a concert on Sunday, November 23 at 3 p.m. at Woolworth Center on the Princeton University campus. She will be accompanied by David Newberg on the Harpsichord in a program of five Bach sonatas for flute.

A senior at Princeton University, majoring in Romance Languages, Miss Beasley has studied flute with Anabel Brieff and Julius Baker. She has been a member of the Princeton University Orchestra and gave a recital last year.

David Newberg is a senior and University scholar majoring in history. He is studying piano in New York and has performed in Princeton on a number of occasions. The concert, sponsored by the Friends of Music, is free and open to the public.

Chris calls "A Matter of Gravity" a challenging play. He says the audience has to work at it, and he adds eagerly, "I'm all for that -- too often commercial theatre talks down to the audience, and is too easy."

"But this play crackles!" and he snaps his fingers twice, "it uses words to express feelings; Bagnold's own special language, often with elliptical phrases that express how a character feels. It's great, and not really too rarified for the audience."

"Our job as actors is to make our acting as deep and clear and true as possible to counteract the play's lack of conventional realism in language and situation."

Play Not on Trial. The out-of-town performances are not conventional try-outs, Chris explains. The play has been written and will not be re-written. But actors are constantly changing the way they present Miss Bagnold's words.

"It's weird," Chris marvels, "like rehearsing a play in front of 1600 people every night."

In Miss Bagnold's play, there is a very special closeness between the Hepburn character and the grandson, and Chris says he is concerned about taking this close on-stage relationship for granted and subconsciously carrying it off-stage.

"For example, what should I call Miss Hepburn?" he wonders. "I've solved that by not using a name at all. I just look her straight in the eye, so she knows I'm talking to her and not to somebody else, and talk. And I've been concerned, working with her, watching to see that I don't upstage her. She saw this, and said, 'For God's sake....!' Just a wonderful person. We had a lousy opening night. Hepburn was nervous as a cat and this carried to the rest of us, of course. But the play has been very well-received and is breaking all records. Because of Hepburn, of course. And I'm still standing there, realizing it -- I'm the luckiest young actor in town!"

IT'S NEW To Us

SCHUSTER'S CHANGES
Now An Auction House. Going once! Going twice! Going three times! Sold! That was the sound last Friday evening at Schuster's premier catalog sale—a pre-Christmas offering of jewelry priced from $50 to $18,000 for a pear-shaped diamond solitaire weighing 8 3/4 carats.
Longtime Princeton fine arts antique dealers and appraisers, Harold and Constance Schuster have opened an auction house specializing in catalog sales. Although this type of auction selling is not a new concept, it is new in this area.

Mrs. Schuster told us that these sales provide as "controlled a situation as you can get." The consignor is protected because each item is listed with a reserve price that prevents it from being sold below a competitive value.
At the same time the buyer is protected because each item sold is guaranteed as described in the catalog. You have 30 days to have it appraised elsewhere and to claim a refund if it is not as advertised.
The Schusters' auction house is modeled on the low-keyed European ones. Americans are beginning to realize what the Europeans have long known," said Mrs. Schuster, "that antiques, diamonds and good jewelry have a constant value and are liquid."

THE NEW SCHUSTER'S: In the gem lab, Mrs. Harold Schuster uses a spectograph to appraise a ruby. This machine, which records the degrees of colors found in all gems, is essential in ascertaining the quality of rubies. In addition to providing appraisals, the new Schuster's also offers catalog auction sales.

In other words you can trade them in at any time for food, shelter or education. With this kind of thinking, Grandmother's tea service can easily be turned into a year of college. "People are beginning to see that fine arts are a commodity," Mrs. Schuster added, "and if they're beautiful too, well, that's a bonus."

Qualified Appraisers. Anything of value can be auctioned, and both Schusters are qualified to appraise whatever you might consider selling (antiques, rugs, prints, jewelry and more). They each belong to the American Society of Appraisers, and Mr. Schuster is also a member of the Appraiser's Association of American.

For many years the Schusters owned a fine arts store on Nassau Street, but unfortunately their costs (especially insurance ones) soared and quality merchandise became increasingly hard to locate. Sadly the days of attic finds and country sales have pretty much become a thing of the past.

"With this kind of market, becoming an auction house is the only thing that makes sense," said Mrs. Schuster. It actually encourages competition. "As a dealer I would buy an item for a dollar, set it on the shelf and then sell it for $2. But in auction, with 10 people bidding, it may get as much as $4 or $6."
Mr. and Mrs. Schuster plan to hold sales approximately monthly with a two-day exhibit before each one. Whether you consign one piece or several, the cost is 25 percent of the first $1,000; 20 percent of the next $4,000 of sale price; 15 percent of the next $1,000, and 12 1/2 percent of the portion of the sale over $15,000.

The main advantage the Schusters can offer over a New York auction house is the promise of including your piece in a catalog sale within 90 days. There is also easy parking, excellent security (to your car if necessary), and a personal service.
Located at 20 Nassau Street, Schuster's is open from 10 to 4 Monday through Friday and by appointments.

ANTIQUE SHOP REOPENS
In Hopewell. "I'm always tempted at country sales," said Clara Kennedy, one of many antique collectors who has turned her hobby into a part-time business. Certainly this is the best alternative for someone who finds the joys of collecting irresistible.
Now Mrs. Kennedy and several other collectors have broadened their business base by joining together to re-open High Button Shoe Antiques. Located in Rocky Hill until last September, the new store is slightly different in that it is now one large unit instead of five smaller shops.

The move has also brought about a vast change in atmosphere—for a modern building has been exchanged for one of Hopewell's most delightful spots—the old carriage house behind Soup de Jour. Formerly occupied by Prince of Orange Antiques, this building with its high ceilings and brick floor is a perfect setting.

"While not everything we have is a bona fide antique (for this it must be 100 years old), we have nice things and many are not expensive," said Mrs. Kennedy. Not yet a 100 years of age, but sought after nevertheless, is the furniture from the Victorian period.

Dressers and Baby Buggys. You can choose marble-top dressers with deep drawers or a handsome black baby buggy complete with a monogram, small rear-view window, and a top that can be put down on sunny days.

Other furniture includes a lovely mahogany Hepplewhite folding game table from the 1790's; a nicely proportioned slant-top oak child's desk with several pigeon holes that are guaranteed to delight; and a pine tool chest that still has its fitted storage bins, $60 to $425.

With six collectors it is possible to have quite a range of antiques. For instance in just one area we saw a Staffordshire plate (1842-67); $18.50; several pieces of Celadon china—a translucent green with handsome portraits and flowers, $55 to $85; and a three-dimensional primitive painting of a schooner by James Keating, a self-taught Maine artist of the early 20th century.

There is also a magnificent Russian samovar just like the ones found in tea rooms. It is highly polished brass and features the Czars' insignias.

Dolls are synonymous with High Button Shoe Antiques, including some lovely bisque-headed ones that are all dressed and carefully documented as to marks, repairs and breaks.

Mrs. Kennedy specializes in little ones (just the right size for doll houses) and she has boxes of them. We saw an Hungarian wedding couple, a bisque bonnet-headed doll, a father and a small black doll. Many of these come from the 19th century—and while some have clothes, others have been left for you to dress.

Tudor Doll House. There are doll houses too, ranging from a huge 100-year old house whose front opens to reveal four large rooms and two halls to a cardboard tudor one from the 1920's, $550 and $40 respectively. According to Mrs. Kennedy, few of the cardboard houses remain, but hers has been reinforced and even comes with the original three-dimensional window boxes and shrubs.

And, of course there are miniatures—just the kind the doll house world loves. There is a pewter World War I airplane, tiny cross-stitch pillows and our favorite—binoculars with a tiny scene in them.

With antique hunting, other part-time jobs, and families, the person in charge varies. However, in addition to Mrs.

Kennedy, the collectors you'll find here include: Florence Downer, Ginny Holcombe, Anne O'Shea, Lizanne Van Doren and Jerry Van Rampen.

High Button Shoe Antiques, at 2 Bank Place in Hopewell, is open from 11 to 5 Monday through Saturday and from 12 to 5 on Sundays.

SCULPTURED BOOKS

PRINCETON GALLERY OF FINE ART

THE LIFE OF GANDHI is one of the many titles included in the sculptured book collection at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art.

ART
In Princeton

HUMOR IN ART FORM
At Gallery of Fine Art. If one accepts the concept that art is the graphic expression of an idea and that its merit is dependent upon the skill and taste employed in the execution of that idea, the visual implementation of a pun must be included if it meets the other criteria. Since humor is involved in punmanship, the part of the standard which the work must meet would be dependent upon its ability to entertain.

A great deal of fun is to be had this month at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, where Sculptured Books by Barton Lidice Benes are on display. The books in question started out in life in a conventional form, but have been reshaped, embellished with appropriate trimmings and then painted or coated so that the title is expressed by the elements displayed. This reviewer will not spoil the fun by telling much more except to say that it's better if you try to guess the name before you look at the titles.

The books are accompanied by a series entitled "Letters from My Aunt." Purportedly based on actual letters from the artist's aunt, they appear at first glance to be funny but become poignant or distressing, depending on one's point of view.

At the University Museum. Harmony between nature and man's soul has been a subject of serious study throughout Rosicrucian history and, as such, has traditionally given rise to important studies in art, music and philosophy. Pamel Colman Smith, an early 20th century artist whose work is now displayed at the Art Museum, was involved with Rosicrucianism and other mystical forms and expressed ideas of the occult through her art.

Her contemporaries and friends, including William Butler Yeats and Alfred Steiglitz, as well as major theatrical personalities, were among the major turn-of-the-century forces seeking new forms and new means of expression. Although she was one of the first artists to express visually the mysticism of music and synthesize sound through color and imagery, she is most widely known for designing a new tarot fortune-telling card deck in 1909.

The tarot deck is featured in the current collection. The mystical and emotional qualities of the pictorial cards are equal to that which is in the musical interpretations. Mood and mystery are expressed through humanistic landscape constructions and emotionally-conceived figures. It is not unusual in this part of the collection for a figure to loom out of a mountain or a tree from a figurative subject.

Hand-colored prints of Ellen Terry, Henry Irving and Sarah Bernhardt are included, as are privately-printed books and magazine illustrations. The work is quite typical of its era and carries a sense of nostalgia along with its more complex intellectual values.

At Squibb Galleries. Alaska is depicted through photographs and artifacts in a dramatic collection that captures the impact of America's last great wilderness. The scope and majesty of the terrain is communicated through heroic portraits of mountains, rain forests and wildlife studies.

The quality of the technical and aesthetic elements in this collection is equal to the content in both scale and execution. Light, texture and space are exceptionally well handled. The quality of the prints also goes well beyond the standard darkroom techniques. Hand-printed in the dye transfer process by Berkey K & L color labs, they offer a quality of light and color not often seen.

Tlingit artifacts from the late 19th and early 20th centuries add an additional dimension to the Alaskan portrait. Baskets, paddles, masks and other carved polychrome objects capture the stylistic essence of a culture that makes a major contribution to the great diversity of America's character and landscape.

At the Drawing Room. Oil and pastel landscapes by Howard Russell Butler are featured at the Drawing Room. Butler pursued many careers including that of businessman and patent attorney but found time in his life to produce an extensive collection of representation landscapes that are typically American in style.

After studying with Frederick E. Church, he made an extensive record of Maine coastal scenes, the Western landscape and Long Island, as well as scattered views of many distant spots. His art contains many of the luminous tonal qualities of his teacher and is typical of late 19th century American landscape painting.

His later works focused more on astromical phenomena, including records

LIFE STYLES SUBJECT
Of Thursday Meeting Here. Berit Lakey, one of the founders of an alternative urban community, the Life Center, in Philadelphia, will speak at 50 McCosh, Princeton University, Thursday at 8 p.m. Her topic will be "Alternative Life Styles for a Changing Society," and will include discussion of possibilities that could be adapted to Princeton.

Ms. Lakey will describe the philosophy and structure of the Life Center and her experiences there over the last four years. The Life Center was formed in 1971 out of the understanding that many social problems -- from pollution and environmental destruction to unemployment and alienation -- stem from the dominant life style, and that these problems cannot be fully solved without addressing the lifestyle itself.

Ms. Lakey and her husband have worked toward developing a life style based on reduced consumption, cooperation, and completely democratic processes for ensuring participation free of sexist, racist, or elitist bias. She has conducted training around the country in group process, community building, and conflict resolution.

The evening is jointly sponsored by the Hunger Action Committee and the Community Alternatives Center, a group located at the Whole Earth Center, 360 Nassau Street.

CANCER CHECK SET
At YWCA. The YWCA Health Committee will sponsor a free breast self examination program, on Tuesday, December 2, at 10:30, 1 and 6:30 at the YMCA-YWCA on Avalon Place. The programs will last approximately an hour and a half.

Trained volunteers, a specialist in the field of breast cancer and a nurse, will be on hand to answer questions and to assist those women interested in correct techniques of self examination. A film will be shown twice during each session. Literature will be available.

A free nursery service will be provided, and coffee served. Because cancer affects the young as well as the old, teen-age girls are also welcome.

Here's one of the most unusual football records ever set. When Cumberland College lost to Georgia Tech 22-0 in 1916, the longest gain Cumberland made during that football game was a 4-yard loss! Every time they had the ball during that game, they either lost possession or lost yardage!

Did you know that amazing high school football records were set by two of 1975's best pitchers in major league baseball, Vida Blue of the A's and Don Gullett of the Reds? Blue, in his senior year in high school in Louisiana, threw 35 touchdown passes; and Gullett in high school football in Kentucky, once scored 72 points himself in a single game.

+++
Here's an example of how much bigger the average football player is today than they used to be. The average weight of the All-American team last season was 224 pounds per man. The average weight of the All-Americans 50 years ago was 183 pounds. Thus, on the average, today's players are some 40 pounds heavier!

I bet you didn't know that you might save money on your homeowner's and/or car insurance if you had a higher deductible than you now have.

After Loss to Yale, Princeton Must Conquer Dartmouth to Earn Measure of Respectability

A role in the finish of the Ivy race and victory over Yale for the first time in nine years now gone beyond recall, Princeton's football team will have a choice Saturday of completing a season in at least satisfactory fashion or of slipping backward in its avowed campaign "to regain respectability."

Dartmouth, itself well below the level of achievement for the past two years that it has known for most of the past two decades, will conclude the Tigers' 1975 season. The kickoff in Palmer Stadium is set for 1:30.

The 1-8 record in 1973, poorest in modern Princeton football history, was followed last fall by a return to the .500 mark with a 4-4-1 performance. In September, belief was rampant here that the Tigers would better that mark measurably, and in the process would play the role of contender in the current Ivy race.

Now, despite ability to upset Harvard in the absence of the Crimson's starting quarterback, Princeton has absorbed its ninth straight loss to Yale by the convincing score of 24-13 and needs a triumph over Dartmouth to finish in the league's first division. A victory would also give the Orange and Black its first winning season since 1970. On the other hand, a loss Saturday would not only leave it with a record worse than last year's but underscore the realization that this is very largely a senior team, and that improvement next fall will be extremely difficult to achieve.

Another Poor First Half. For the second time in three weeks, Princeton suffered through a first half which saw it do little right and commit two mistakes that cost it two touchdowns. The first gave Yale a near-unbelievable 97-yard scoring pass when the defense failed to cover the fleet Gary Fencik, who took a 33-yard toss from halfback Don Gesicki, shook off one tackler around the 40 and romped the rest of the way untouched. It was much the same play that Eli coach Carm Cozza used when quarterback Brian Dowling pitched out to Calvin Hill, with Dowling then breaking downfield to take a long pass from Hill. It worked in 1967, the year the Yale string began, for a 60-yard TD and again in the Bowl the following season.

A fumble by Ron Beible on the Tiger 24 set up the Blue's second touchdown and midway through the third quarter, Randy Carter's 28-yard field goal made it 17-0—the same score by which Brown led here a fortnight ago. As they had that afternoon, the Tigers rallied but once again, they had given away too much for their sputtering offense to overcome.

On the final play of the last quarter, Ron Beible launched a 51-yard drive that took just seven plays to make it 17-7. He completed three of four passes before rolling right from two yards out into the end zone.

Better than 13 minutes remained, and when linebacker Ken Frederick blocked a punt to give Princeton possession on the Eli two after the ball had bounded 35 yards toward the Eli goal line, the Tigers' had their best chance of beating Yale in years. Again Beible ran the touchdown across, narrowing the gap to 17-13 with 10:27 left on the clock.

Poor Play Selection. Now Princeton chose to go for a two-point conversion, but as has happened so often this fall, a time-out was expended to discuss the desired play. When the choice was made, it was, astonishingly, the same spot pass to Neil Chamberlin in the right flat that had failed twice that afternoon to gain a foot. The Tigers' wide receiver, amply covered, was easily nailed a yard behind the line of scrimmage and the whole concept of winning football at Princeton suffered as a result.

Taking the ensuing kickoff, Yale gambled on possession twice. The first time, the Elis made the necessary yardage on fourth down with a yard to spare, the second time they ran on a fourth-and-five situation and won the ball game. Halfback John Pagliaro, the heir apparent to senior Don Gesicki, took a pitchout around his right end, turned the flank behind fine blocking and covered the 25 yards to the goal line as unhindered as a batter running out an inside-the-park home run.

The Tigers got all the way to the Yale five before Beible threw a fourth-down interception that ended their hopes of making it closer and then trying a dribble kickoff to retain possession for one last shot. On the march that aborted just short of the goal line, Beible must have set a record for a frustrated running game by throwing 13 consecutive passes. As it had against Brown, the Princeton ground attack managed exactly eight yards.

Beible completed half his 34 passes for 110 yards. Five went to Chamberlin, giving him a Princeton career record total of 76. Bill Skinner '74, whose senior year came when Beible began all his aerial activities as a sophomore, held the old mark of 75.

Fencik's 97-yard touchdown reception is a Yale record, and while the book doesn't list that category on defense, it is also undoubtedly the longest scoring pass Princeton has ever allowed. This one dug the Tigers' grave for that ninth straight loss to the Elis.

PROBLEM AT DARTMOUTH

Green Hates to Lose. Nowhere in the Ivy League is winning football more important than it is at Dartmouth, largely because Bob Blackman gave the Green such a winning tradition that it has had greater success than any of its Ivy rivals. In the quiet hills of New Hampshire, where there are few other diversions, victory is vital to a happy way of life.

Because the pendulum almost invariably swings away from unusual success, Dartmouth football has come—at least relatively—on hard times. The Green lost its first three a year ago, including a 14-7 decision on its own field to rebuilding Princeton, finished 3-6 overall and fell out of first division in the Ivy League for the first time since 1968. If it is beaten here Saturday, it will do so in consecutive seasons for the first time since the Ivy League went formal in 1956.

Mike Brait, a senior quarterback, is not the take-charge operator that most of his predecessors have been. Although he completes somewhat better than 50 percent of his attempts, Dartmouth is averaging barely 100 yards a game in the air.

Bob Freidl and Curt Oberg are the chief ball carriers — the former is the only back on either team Saturday who ranks among the top ten in the league. Dartmouth's offense ranks seventh in yards gained and sixth in point-production in league statistics.

After losing to Massachusetts in its opener, the Green topped Holy Cross and began its Ivy League season with a victory over Penn. Columbia and Cornell are also among its victims, while it had tied Brown and lost to Harvard and Yale — the latter game going to the Elis on a field goal in the final seconds.

OLYMPIC TEAM WINS
Tops Princeton in Hockey. After trailing by no more than 2-1 in its first period of hockey this season against the U.S. Olympic team, which had played nearly 30 games since its formation earlier this year, Princeton fell victim to the national sextet's superior ability in the second round. Outscored, 3-0, in that session, the Tigers lost, 6 to 2.

A near-capacity crowd in Baker Rink Saturday watched the contest, one of the earliest the sport has known here. Kris Kollevoll, a junior forward, scored for the Orange and Black in the opening period, and sophomore John Van Siclen added the other Princeton goal just before the game ended. The Tigers had a man advantage at the time, a plus factor they had enjoyed on frequent occasions during the evening, but without ability to convert their power plays previously.

Mike O'Leary was the Princeton goalie, blocking 32 of the 38 shots taken at him. The losers had 31 shots — 14 in the last period — on Olympic goalie Jim Warden.

Coach Jack Semler's team will play a second exhibition game Sunday at 5:30 in Baker Rink against the St. Nicks. Among the former Princeton players on the club team are John and Steve Cook, graduates here in 1963 and '66. The varsity's season will open officially Saturday night, November 29, with Dartmouth here for an Ivy League game.

PHS VS. TRENTON
In Season's Finale, Princeton High School, as easy 33-0 victor over hapless Notre Dame in its last start, will end its season Saturday afternoon against Trenton. If the Little

QUICK LOOK AT DARTMOUTH

OFFENSE: Has not been impressive, as long-standing ability to field line quarterbacks comes up short for second straight year. Stands seventh among Ivies, but can be typically opportunistic.

DEFENSE: Again, not quite up to Dartmouth's best but is never seriously overmatched. Spearheaded by line linebacker in Reggie Williams.

CHIEF ASSET: Love of football at Hanover. Dartmouth has long had reputation of taking all of its opponents seriously in hope of victory.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Downtrend in good material matriculating at Dartmouth. Inability to play contender's role in Ivy race for second year is almost unprecedented in two decades of competition.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Multiple T

Tigers win, they will finish with a 5-4 season. The game will be played in Trenton, starting at 1:30.

Shut out 10-0 last week by Ewing, Trenton has failed to live up to its pre-season promise. It will enter the Princeton contest with a 2-5-1 mark. Trenton coach Mark Bailey acknowledged that his team is down and described the Ewing shoutout as "our worst game."

His counterpart, PHS coach Jim Beachell isn't buying. He predicted the game would be "even-steven, a tough defensive battle."

"The team that makes the fewest mistakes will win it," he said. "Trenton will be up for it; we took it to 'em last year and they will want to get even." PHS stopped the Tornadoes, 26-0, last fall in one of its best games of the season.

Game Decided Early. The game with Notre Dame was, for all intents and purposes, over in the first period when the visiting Little Tigers scored three times.

And the non-existent Notre Dame offense, which has scored only six points this season while the defense was yielding 201, was just as impotent against the Little Tigers, recording only four first downs during the game.

In the first period, quarterback Dan Schulman passed 67 yards to halfback Paul Soderman, fullback Eric Ziolkowski plunged over from the two and Hobbie McPherson returned an interception 31 yards for a 19-0 lead.

In the final period, PHS added two more scores. The fourth was another Schulman-to-Soderman strike, this one measuring 18 yards, and the final six-pointer coming on Schulman's third touchdown.

pass of 29 yards to Lewis Gumbiner over the middle.

It was only the second game at quarterback for Schulman since taking over for the suspended Tommy Thomas. Schulman will also direct the Little Tigers against Trenton. "He's coming around," said Beachell.

Beachell also cited the "good running game" of Ziolkowski, who rushed for 74 yards on nine carries, and the defensive play of Anthony Cirullo and McPherson. He also commended the fine job guard John Hoover did in filling in at center the entire game for the injured Nate Harris.

HUN EXITS WITH WIN
Wins League Title. Scoring twice early in the game, the Hun School football team went on to defeat Admiral Farragut Saturday, 23-12. The game was the final one of the season for the Red and Black which finished with a fine 6-2 record. The win — Hun's fifth in a row — also gained it the championship of the New Jersey Independent Group A Conference. Blair Academy, its only league loss to Hun, finished second.

It was a good season for Hun on the gridiron — better, said Hun coach Dave Leete, than he had anticipated at the start. Hun began with a good backfield but the line, particularly from tackle to tackle, was a question mark. "A lot of players we had to count on came around," said Leete.

Through graduation Leete loses both ends, Tom Summers and Larry Gebert and the entire backfield of Terry McEwen, Greg Pabers, fullback Ernie Barbiero and quarterback Nick Brady. Also departing will be Sean Cleary and Bob Mendelson. The latter was a special squad player who snapped the ball on all Hun punts.

"He did a great job. He didn't have one bad snap all season," said Leete.

Next year, the outlook on the Hun squad will be reversed: Leete has a solid line returning but the backfield will be untested.

Hun Scores Early. In the finale against the Future Admirals in Toms River, Hun started fast when the home team fumbled on the first play and Hun recovered on the 24. Brady passed nine yards to Gebert and then McEwen capped the short drive by scoring from the four yard stripe. Barbiero ran for the two-point conversion.

Farragut promptly fumbled again—it turned the ball over five times—and Hun recovered. This time, however, a Farragut tackle picked off a Brady pass and returned it 75 yards. The attempted conversion kick failed.

Papers, the transfer student, who performed so capably for Hun all season, got the winners on the board again in the first period when he intercepted a Farragut pass and scored a few plays later on a 27-yard scamper.

After a scoreless second period, Hun tallied its final TD in the third period on a nine-yard pass from Brady to Gebert. Barbiero's two-point conversion run gave Hun a 23-6 margin. The losers scored with a minute and a half to go on a 58-yard pass play against the Hun reserves.

BANK IS RUNNER-UP

In Midget Jr. Division. In the final games of the season last week in the junior division of the Princeton Midget Football League, Sibson & Co. blanked J.P. Cleaver, 12-0, and First National Bank clinched second place by defeating Hilton Realty, 32-6. Peterson Construction is the league champion.

Sibson scored on a 37-yard run by Pierre Erlwanger and on a 20-yard pass from David Barclay to Eric Broadway. The Sibson defense was led by Brian Long, Scott Perone and Erlwanger.

Terry Phox, Lamont Fletcher, and Tim Kennedy were the offensive leaders for Cleaver, with Kennedy, Carl Rice and Scott Gabrielson contributing fine defensive work.

Willie Whittaker scored twice on runs of 9 and 38 yards and once on an intercepted pass. Jeff Henkel scored twice

1950 Team Plans Reunion

The Princeton football team which completed a 9-for-9 season by defeating Dartmouth in a hurricane on November 25 of that year (see this week's cover story) will return to Palmer Stadium Saturday. Members will sit together near the top of Section 5.

Two residents of Princeton who were on the championship team a quarter-century ago are Joe Zawadzky, 661 Prospect Avenue, starting guard on defense, and Bob Cowen, 69 Alexander Street, an end.

Last Saturday, the 1935 team, which also won all nine of its games, was present as the Tigers lost to Yale. Its captain is a Princeton resident -- Pepper Constable of 10 Orchard Circle.

and added an extra point and Patrick Kellogg tallied the other extra point in Cleaver's victory over Hilton. Eric Granade, Bob Miller, Henkel and Whittaker were strong on defense.

Kim Wells ran 40 yards for Hilton's only score and also played well defensively along with Hunter Allen, Jeff Shangle and David Greenspan.

FINAL GAMES PLAYED

In Midget Football. In final games last week in the senior division of the Princeton Midget Football League, Rug and Furniture Mart defeated Nassau Conover, 18-0, and in a rematch of the two strongest teams, University Store blanked Princeton Fuel Oil, 7-0.

Bob Dennehy scored from the three yard line to put the Rug Mart ahead 6-0 at the half. In the first play of the fourth quarter, John Kellogg passed to Tom Scibetta, who ran 46 yards for the touchdown. The final six points came on a five-yard run by Clyde Pannell.

Any hope that Nassau-Conover would come back was dashed when Tom Scibetta intercepted a David Dinella pass. Defensively, Mark Miller, Rick Galiardo, Bob Dennehy, and Major Brown were impressive for the victors. For Nassau-Conover, Frank Whittaker, Todd Leeuwenburgh, and Paul Curschmann played fine defensive ball.

Following a hard hitting, scoreless first half, Fuel Oil committed a bad pass from center which gave the University Store the ball on the Fuel Oil seven-yard line. Doug Ferguson carried the ball into the end zone for the University Store touchdown. Ferguson then threw to Pat MacAvenia for the extra point.

Fuel Oil's fate was sealed in the closing minutes of the game when Jeff Seiler recovered a fumble for the University Store and Paul Tamasi stole the ball. For Fuel Oil, Chris Henkel and Sean Cavanagh were strong on defense. For the winning University Store, Pat MacAvenia and Paul Tamasi were standouts.

PROGRAMS CONTINUE

At Dillon, Jadwin. Cooperation between Princeton University and the Princeton Recreation Department has enabled the Dillon League and Jadwin Program to continue this winter with few alterations.

The Dillon League will start its fifth year Saturday. Basketball players, 11-14, are evaluated and will compete in the league during winter months. Divided into two divisions by age, the teams represent different clubs and organizations on campus and are coached by university students who donate their time to teach a better understanding of fundamentals.

League games are played in Dillon Gym. Interested boys, 13 and 14, as of December 1 receptions. Dave Barondess punted 25 times for an average of 31 yards.

The Most Improved Player award was presented to David Mottley, an offensive and defensive tackle. Mark Blaxill, a fullback, received the Panther Award, presented to the player who most consistently displayed the qualities of sportsmanship, leadership and ability.

Elected co-captains of next year's team are Mark Zawadsky, corner back and wide receiver, and Mottley.

Coach John Boneparth loses nine of 11 starters, including Martin, Blaxill, Baggitt, Judge, Jeb Burns, Len Williams, Jay Trubee, Ralph Adams, Chris Jensen and Jim Daubert.

"We lose a lot," agreed Boneparth, "but we have a lot of potential coming up from the jayvee program and I think we'll be respectable next year."

TWO GAMES SATURDAY

For Princeton Soccer Club. This Saturday, the Princeton Soccer Club will play games against two all-star teams from The Little River Soccer Club, Fairfax, Virginia.

Both games will get underway at 8:30 a.m. at Gulick and Bedford fields on the Princeton University campus. The winners of the two games will then stage a brief exhibition between halves of the Princeton University game with Dartmouth.

Both The Princeton Soccer Club and The Little River Soccer Club are in their first years of operation and have been highly successful. Little River will be matching its all-star team of 13-and-14-year old boys, The Spirits of '62, against Princeton Savings and Loan Association, the leaders in the Princeton senior league.

In the other game, Little River's 13-and-14-year-old girl's team, The Capitol Fire, will take on another Princeton senior league team, New Jersey National Bank of Princeton. Both Virginia teams have done very well in competition around the

Washington D.C. area, and The Capitol Fire, in particular, has played in tournaments throughout the United States.

This is the Princeton Soccer Club's second exposure to outside competition, as three weeks ago, a 12 year old all-star squad lost 3-0 in an exciting match against a team from Annandale, Virginia.
